'Classic Voices' is a group of local vocalists, known for their close harmonies and powerful blend of sound. Musical Director, Pastor Jay Best, has explained that this 16 member group is devoted to bringing fresh life to the musical classics of all eras. "The name reflects the potential for embracing the great variety of musical history." In the coming concert the ensemble will revisit many of the songs they have enjoyed singing over the past seasons from their Americana and Renaissance repertoire, with the addition of a haunting and resonant collection of songs from the "World War II" era such as, "As Time Goes By", "Embraceable You", "Long Ago and Far Away", and the nostalgic, "What Will I Do?"

A celebration reception will follow the concert which is free and open to the public.

A donation to cover music costs is gratefully appreciated.
